

Page 48:

Two beer steins from reconnaissance battalions from the 1936 time frame. These were usually ordered for units around Christmas (Weihnachten) and served as a memento for the personnel. They were often personalized, as seen below, and sometimes featured engravings on the lids. Not many survived the war, regardless of what branch of service they came from.